RESIGNS POSITION
AS M. E. DEACONESS

Miss Mattie Kisseil Will Take Position as Home Mother at Methodist Home for Girls.
Miss Mattie Kisseil, who has been deaconess at the Carroll Memorial M. E. church for several years past, has resigned her position to accept a place as home mother at the Methodist home for girls at St. Louis, Mo. She will begin her new duties on July 15, next.

During her residence in this city Miss Kisseil has been most successful in her work and has done much among the young people of the church. She has always been ready to help those in trouble and her departure will be deeply regretted by the members of the congregation and a host of friends.

Clean wiping rags, free from hooks and buttons will bring 3¢ per pound. The children can earn money by bringing them to the Gazette office.

UP TO LEGISLATURE TO DECIDE MATTER
STATE FAIR QUESTION SETTLED BY MAJORITY REPORT OF COMMITTEE.
MILWAUKEE FAVORED

Janesville Had One Vote on First Ballot—Fox River Valley Site Favored by Minority.

It will either be Milwaukee or the Fox River Valley as the location for the Wisconsin State Fair. The site in Janesville, offered by the Boosters' committee, but the fact that this city is located in the extreme southern end of the state and the talk that the city could not care for the grounds despite the excellent railroad facilities, mitigated against this city being named in either formal report. Both reports will go to the legislature for decision of acceptance but it looks now as though the fair would not be moved from Milwaukee, at least at this time.

It was by a vote of six to three the legislative committee investigating the state fair vote the fair at Milwaukee on the understanding that "Milwaukee county will furnish to the state free of charge" a strip of 24 acres of land on the east side of the fair grounds. The strip is known as the Fleming tract.

Two ballots were taken by the committee at the meeting yesterday afternoon. On the first ballot Milwaukee received five votes; Oshkosh, two; Janesville, one; and one for no fair. On the second ballot the vote stood five for Milwaukee and four for Oshkosh, but Assemblyman Conway later voted for Milwaukee on the offer of the Fleming tract of land free to the state.

The minority report of the committee then retired and drew up a report favorable to the Fox River Valley and the majority of the committee drew up the report for Milwaukee incorporating the provisions for the additional land and additional terminal facilities at two different places on the ground.

The minority report was signed by Senator White and Assemblyman Carpenter and Larsen. It recommends "the location of the fair in what is known as the Fox River Valley, the site to be selected by the agricultural board of 250 acres of land, the same to be purchased by the cities of Oshkosh and Fond du Lac and donated to the state."

The following is the text of the two reports:
Text of Report.
The text of the report to the legislature follows: We have made a full and complete investigation of sites and propositions submitted by the city of Madison, the city of Janesville, the cities of Oshkosh and Fond du Lac, the city of Green Bay, and have compared said sites and propositions with the present site of the state fair grounds located in Milwaukee county.

"Second: That each of the said cities proposing sites, including the city of Milwaukee, was given a full and public hearing, wherein the advantages of each of the sites was fully discussed, including the kind of soil, transportation, hotel facilities, etc."

"Third: We find the present state fair grounds to be equipped with many permanent buildings, built of steel, brick and concrete, comparatively new and in first class condition together also with other permanent improvements such as race tracks, streets, walks, sewage, light and water system, etc., approximating in cost at $300,000."

"In addition to the buildings already enumerated, there are many wooden buildings which can be used for some time, but which must be replaced from time to time with permanent structures."

Removal Means Loss.
"Your committee in arriving at its conclusions herein enumerated 'took into consideration the fact that if a new site was selected practically all of the permanent buildings located on the present state fair grounds would be a loss to the state and would necessitate an appropriation of $200,000 to $300,000 for the removal of the same."

Milwaukee for Many Reasons.
"Fourth: After a full investigation with reference to the sites, railroad facilities, grounds, hotel and rooming accommodations, the density of population, availability of rural districts by many lines of railroads, both steam and interurban, we have come to the conclusion that the Wisconsin state fair will be more successful, industrially, agriculturally, educationally, financially and nearer self-sustaining at its present location than at any of the other sites submitted for consideration."

Additional Ground Needed.
"Fifth: Your committee believes that in order to conduct a successful state fair, additional grounds are necessary, and we find that such grounds are available and that a bill has been introduced in the senate known as No. 5528, which, when it becomes a law, will give authority to Milwaukee county to purchase such additional ground and convey it free of charge to the state of Wisconsin to be used for fair ground purposes. And we are informed and believe that as soon as the said bill becomes a law, the city of Milwaukee will immediately secure the title to said additional land and convey the same as hereinafore stated to the state of Wisconsin for fair ground purposes."

And your committee believes that the establishment of street railway terminal facilities on said additional tract of land will fully solve the local transportation question, which has heretofore been a great handicap to the successful operation of the fair.

Milwaukee for Permanent Site.
"Sixth: Now, therefore, your committee having taken into consideration all the above and foregoing together with numerous other facts, numerous to mention, recommend that the present site, together with the additional land above referred to, be the permanent location for the Wisconsin state fair."

The Minority Report.
The report of the minority of the committee favoring the location of the fair grounds near Oshkosh is as follows:

"We recommend the location of the state fair in what is known as the Fox River valley, the site of 250 acres to be selected by the state board of agriculture, the same to be purchased by the cities of Oshkosh and Fond du Lac and donated to the state. Our reason for recommending this site is because we think the Fox River valley is the nearest centrally located point of the agricultural part of the state and will be more so in the future as the northern part of the state is developed."

We have letters from the Soo and the Chicago and North-Western railroads that they will build sidetracks and will furnish ample service to accommodate the people. The Eastern Wisconsin Railroad and Light and Power company also agrees to put in the necessary terminal facilities at the selected site and to furnish care enough to take care of the public and prevent congestion in transporting them to and from the fair grounds.

Claim an Improvement.
"It is further our conviction that by starting a new fair ground that conditions of business can be made over what we now have as to grounds and buildings by erecting new and more suitable and up to date buildings, properly located, with proper space and accommodation for the public."

"It is necessary to have at least 250 acres of ground to make a good state fair, as all other successful state fairs have that much ground or more."

"We recommend that there be appropriated $200,000 for the improvement of buildings thereon, which, together with the proceeds derived from the sale of the present grounds and buildings we consider will be sufficient to equip an up to date fair. We recommend that the state board of agriculture be authorized to sell the land and buildings as it thinks best to the new site."

White is Champion.
Senator White, who represents the Oshkosh district in the senate, was the most ardent advocate of the new site of a state fair near Oshkosh, and he expects to try to induce the senate to adopt the minority report. Senators Weigle and Biehler, however, expect that the majority report will be adopted.

That the reports will come up for consideration in the assembly before they are taken up in the senate because the bill creating the investigating committee originated there and because the first agitation for removing the fair from Milwaukee started there. Senator White was chairman and Assemblyman Conway secretary of the committee which, as the majority report states, spent much time—practically thirty days—in carefully investigating and viewing the proposed sites and listening to the propositions made by the various interested communities.

COLLEGE CATALOGS SHOWN AT LIBRARY
Will Prove of Interest to High School Graduates Desirous of Continuing Education.

Numerous catalogs of colleges, universities, technical schools, military schools and others have been received at the public library, where they have been placed on display for the examination of those who are interested. High school graduates and others who intend to continue their education at higher institutes of learning will find them valuable for reference and of assistance in determining which one they will attend.

The further the student who has not decided what vocation to follow, or having decided, desires more information concerning it, a number of volumes on the different subjects and professions have been grouped on a shelf where they can conveniently be examined. Following are some of the books to be obtained—Starting in Life, Fowler; Which College for the Boy, John Cowdin; Princeton and New James W. Alexander; College Girl of America, Crawford; How Women May Earn a Living, Candee; The American Girl, College, McCabe; American Colleges, Chubb; Choosing a Vocation, Parsons; College Training and the Business Man, Thwing; An American at Oxford, Corbin; Education for Efficiency, Davenport; The Federal Civil Service, How to Prepare for a Civil Service Examination, Leupp; The Making of a Journalist, Julian Ralph.

Two display shelves have been placed in the library containing biographies and memoirs.

The Boosters' Primer

In the forthcoming parade of the U. C. T. next Friday the industries of Janesville are to be represented by floats. Each float will represent a different factory. The number of factories so represented should be well observed by the on-looker as each one represents an industrial dynamo generating the commercial force of our communal existence. In the development and expansion of these factories lies the future of Janesville. If they do well, Janesville prospers; should they suffer, the city will suffer with them. From this no town, be it ever so strong, can hope to escape.

These factories can prosper and grow only when they are able to dispose of their output. Without the help of the consumer they can do nothing; with his help they can do much. In the purchase of their output at home, a double value is received by the consumer. One represented by the quality and the other by the good, done the community. Every dollar spent for such output is a dollar added to the sum total of our social and economic wealth.

The Cleveland Naps and the New York Highlanders of 1913 are scrappy teams, and Joe Birmingham and Frank Chance have put the naps in them. Birmingham is more or less of a good fellow to his men; Chance is just the opposite, an iron-handed ruler who makes his men work not through rules but by the knowledge that they will get ticked if they don't come up to the letter in conduct and play.

Mike McDewitt did not get Peggy from Paris going right last year, but the mare now is doing very nicely. In 1911, she looked like one of the best prospects in the country.

Winning seventeen straight games in the college arena is quite a notable feat, as in professional baseball, for although the pro leagues are stronger the team that wins has strength in proportion. Yale was the college nine that accomplished 17 straight. Yale is regarded as being the strongest college team that has played in a decade.

HORSEMEN DELIGHT THE RAIL BIRDS

Good Heats by Steeds Training at the Park Association Track

These Days.
By C. E. (Buck) Hunter.

On Decoration Day it was the intention of the driving club to hold a matinee but the recent rains the fore part of the week left the track in such condition that the trainers were afraid to take chances starting their horses in a real matinee, but on Friday the day was delightful and from a horseman's standpoint the track was in good condition, and a good sized crowd was on hand to see the "different" abilities worked out, and all hands from the owner down to the stable boys were busy, for all the horses were eager for work, having been compelled to stand in the barns for at least four days.

In the morning preliminaries Joe Heild and W. W. Briggs with Jessie C. and Mable Riser made the rail birds sit up and look when they let this pair of mares step an easy mile in 2:23 1/2, last half in 1:08 1/2 and final quarter in 33 seconds. Shortly after this pair had been put away Mr. Briggs with Six Cylinder Penn, 2:12 1/2 and N. Atchison with Sidney Goodluck, 2:13 1/2, came out after a couple of slow miles. This pair was permitted to go an easy mile in 2:25. Sidney Goodluck is a pacer and obtained his record on a 1/2 mile track last season, and is a very rapid going horse and looks at now to stay in that class, around 2:10 which his owner expects of him this season. Penno looks fit at the present time to do anything that is asked of him.

President John Nichols and his wife, Chas. Putnam enjoyed the afternoon very much, giving their own horses a real workout in company with Joe Heild and W. W. Briggs. Joe Heild having the mount behind Harley Howe, 2:17 1/4. Chas. Putnam, last year's champion, 2:14 1/4, Rothada driven by W. N. Millard, Master Brand with John Nichols as head Jack.

When this quartet went up and turned to score it looked like the yearling and brought a number of hands of cheers from the spectators. Messrs. Putnam and Nichols handled their charge in a very creditable manner as these two gentlemen will soon be masters of the art in training their own horses. Jessie McKinney and his horses, Howie seem to have their old time lick of speed, while Rothada and Master Brand are still eligible to the slow class, and the two latter pacers have all the ear marks of fast performers.

Joe Heild brushed Lowden, 2:19 1/4 for the benefit of his owner. Joe has been going slow with this horse on account of his disposition to be a little double ended and once he gets the key to the big son of Hardy Reeper he will be a hard horse to beat in the 2:20. Just to show his many admirers he still had a little step left Mr. Briggs gave Peter Emmett his head after a slow mile at the three quarter pole and he finished the last quarter in 32 1/4 seconds in old fashioned style. A. J. Weeks and his understudy worked Scotty (no record) and Ceasing 2:14 1/4. Some slow miles brushing them home the last quarter in 33 1/4 seconds. These two pacers present time look fit to go after the money. Mr. Weeks showed up another classy looking filly called Bessie Hot-Spy that was raced a few times last year for education, from the lines this mare ought to be very fast this season. Not being content with Friday's workout and show the clock, she a real live trotter W. N. Millard on Saturday worked the President Jr., 2:24 1/4 a mile in 2:15 and thus established a new track record for the year. Tuesday, June 3rd brought another crowd of rail birds out to the track at about the morning opened up any to pleasant by 9 a. m. the temperature dropped at least six degrees, making the weather anything but pleasant for fast work. Quite a number from Eggerton were on hand to witness the work outs and among the familiar faces was James Conway former owner of Mark Holm. Jim's love for the light harness horse will never die out and through the courtesy of Mr. Briggs Jim was asked to have the mount behind his former pupil Mark Home and the pair looked any to natural to the spectators.

The most sensational workout today was done by Rothada by Alfrie 2:07 1/4 in W. N. Millard's stable. This mare is eligible to the slow class paces and has made the mile in 2:20 1/4, last half in 1:10, seemed very easy for her.

Alice McGregor 2:19 1/4 at the present time looks like oil in the can, and today marched an easy mile in 2:23 with the last 1/2 in 1:09. Alice is staked in the 2:20 classers through the Great Western Circuit.

Miss Logan 2:24 1/4 worked three very nice miles today the third one being done in 2:23 1/4 with the last half in 1:09. Miss Logan has been staked in the 2:25 pace at Des Moines, Ia. which takes place some time in July. Peter Emmett and Mable Riser are also staked at the same place. There are a number of colts in training at the track that are showing quite a burst of speed although nothing sensational has been done with any of the youngsters thus far.

Wm. Holt was a very busy man during the week as he is putting a great deal of time on Secretary Putnam's three-year old trotter, Hamlin A. worthy. This colt is fast founding in to form and from present indications ought to give a good accounting for himself.

Nick Ericson is a very busy man most of the time as he has four head that he is working alone.

J. A. Mitchell arrived at the track a few days ago with four head of colts by the good pacer Lord Gentry 2:13 1/4 by Ashland Wilkes. Mr. Mitchell says it's quite a relief to get on a track like ours to work for there are so many more conveniences here compared with the state fair track at Milwaukee.

Horsemen are sorry to learn of the illness of E. Roy Lloyd owner of the Rex 2:17 1/4. On account of Mr. Lloyd's physical condition he has sold his good three year old colt American Rex to Joe Heild.

In about three weeks more the various stables now quartered at the track will be breaking tanks and embarking on the very hot race meetings to be held throughout the different states where the different favorites will be watched with interest.

WESTERN ATHLETIC MEET ON SATURDAY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., June 4.—The flower of college athletes of more than four fifths of the United States will compete in the thirteenth annual western intercollegiate conference field and track meet here next Saturday under the auspices of the University of Wisconsin.

In the 100-yard dash thirteen men are entered, each with a record within four-fifths of a second of the world's record. Ireland of Colorado, has a mark of 9.4 seconds, and this year won the Pacific coast conference event. Wood of California won second in the intercollegiate last year and was nosed out only by Wilson of Coe, who is out of the conference this year.

Stanton and Wood of California, Cortis of Illinois, Kaiser of Ames, Applegate of Purdue, and Dickerson of Ames are all good for the 100-yard dash in ten seconds. Applegate won in the Missouri valley meet Saturday, Kaiser was second, and Dickerson fourth. Torrey of Wisconsin, Cull of Drake, Kirksey of Missouri, Kaduk and Schibey of Wisconsin have covered the distance under 16.1 seconds this spring.

The 200-yard dash will see Ireland of Colorado competing against Cortis of Illinois, Wood of California, Dickerson and Kaiser of Ames, Spink of Minnesota, and Applegate of Purdue. Ireland's time of 22 seconds is the best made this spring. He is a new man but is said to be head and shoulders above his competitors. Wood of California, whose time averages 22.1 seconds, won second in the conference last year. Cortis, Wood, Dickerson and Kaiser are all good for a mark of better than 22.1 seconds.

of Athletics J. W. Wilce, Commodore M. F. McFarland, Kaduk, Ia.; Engineer P. G. Babcock, Madison and Ray McKay will accompany the crew. Examinations will be held on the train. Led by the university band, university rowers will assemble on the lower campus tonight to march to the station and give the crews a rousing send-off.

THE OPEN WINDOW.

A medical inspector of the Philadelphia public schools, with the cooperation of teachers and parents, recently made an experiment to determine the value of cold fresh air in school rooms, which was reported in the Philadelphia Journal of Public Health. He opened the windows at top and bottom, and kept them open throughout the winter. The room was shut off from the heating plant of the building, except on the occasional days when the temperature fell below forty-five degrees, but the children of course wore extra wraps and had frequent drills and exercises.

Week by week during the fall and winter and spring, this physician weighed and examined the pupils, watched their study and their play, and compared their progress in health and scholarship with that of pupils in another room of the same building. In that other room, the pupils were of the same grade, and of about the same number, but the room was heated and ventilated according to the usual methods. The pupils in both rooms were normal, healthy children from the same kind of homes, so that the test was as fair, accurate and searching as possible.

At the end the inspector found that the pupils in the open-window room had gained in weight on an average more than twice as much as those in the warm air room. The pupils in the open room kept wholly free from colds, and were much more regular in attendance than the others. They were also more alert, free from day-dreaming, quicker to learn, needed less review work, and were generally happy. In health and happiness, in development both of mind and body, the children of the room with open windows had a clear advantage over the others.

In these days, the gospel of sunshine and pure air ought to need little preaching. Most of us accept it, but we do not always practice the doctrine that we believe in and preach. This Philadelphia experiment lay not in giving the open-air treatment to sick children—which everyone approves, it lay in giving to well children some of the good things that nature intended them to enjoy, and in demonstrating to the school officials and parents the advantages of lower school-room temperatures.

As a result the school board, recognizing their value, has authorized the establishment of open-window classes in several Philadelphia schools.

THE JAPANESE QUESTION.

Pastor Russell of the Brooklyn Tabernacle is not considered very good authority on theology, but he has made a study of the Japanese question at close range, having spent several months in that country last year. He suggests, in view of the trouble growing out of the California alien law that the Philippine Islands be sold to Japan at cost, after reserving a small island for naval stores and a coaling station. He is so impressed with the notion that he recently wrote an open letter to Hon. William J. Bryan, secretary of state, which after stating the needs of Japan for more territory, contains the following suggestions, which are worth a careful reading. If adopted they would go a long way in promoting universal peace.

He suggests that the United States government select from amongst the Philippine Islands one island suitable as a naval base, and tender to Japan the opportunity to take over the Philippine Islands at precisely the same time they have cost the United States. This would give our neighbors of the Far East exactly what they want, and at the same time, at the cost of war. Additionally, it would make them our friends, and surely all Americans desire a world-wide friendship with all nations. I advise that this step be taken speedily, because there is a "jingo" party in Japan bent upon the acquisition of the Philippines, which party will always be ready to take advantage of such trifles as the California alien law to incite hatred against the United States and to force their government against its judgment to seize the Philippines. It is human nature for the Japanese to want these islands—to feel that they need them. It is practical common sense to say that they can take them whenever they are ready. The United States could not retake the Philippines except at the expense of many lives and thousands of millions of dollars—if at all.

"Our Japanese neighbors, flushed with their victory over the Russian navy, and courageous and proud-spirited, and ready to make full use of their ability to capture the Philippines and probably to hold them; but they do not realize that a war with America would be a very different one from that with Russia, that American pride and valor would spend thousands of lives and thousands of millions of dollars, rather than surrender to Japan. Pride, courage, self-esteem, confidence, on both sides are the real dangers. Surely wisdom should dictate to both nations that, in the interest of peace, cause for friction should be as far as possible eliminated. I believe that no more fair, no more just, no more honorable method for adjudicating this matter can be found than that we are suggesting—the sale of the islands at cost to the Japanese.

"Japan would give the Philippines a splendid government—better, I believe than would any other nation under the sun except our own government. No one could visit the Philippines without feeling pride for what America has done for that people—and done in so unselfish and noble a manner, as an elder brother amongst the nations helping a younger brother. Under no circumstances would I favor turning the Philippines over to the domination of a barbaric people. The Japanese are not barbarians, but highly civilized."

THE STATE FAIR.

While the majority report of the legislative state fair investigating committee have decided upon the retention of the fair in Milwaukee, and the minority have reported favorable to a site located in the Fox River valley, Janesville should not feel discouraged over the result of its work in behalf of this city, as the fair location, it is certain that the work done by the various "boosting" committees that visited the legislature twice, that entertained the members of the committee while here on their tour of inspection, placed Janesville on the state map in a manner which could not otherwise have been accomplished. Aside from that it united the sentiment of the citizens generally in boosting Janesville and demonstrated that the Twenty-five Thousand club as composed of men who sought the best good of Janesville first, last and always. It is safe to say that there is not a member of the legislature who does not know Janesville, and the fair and what it had to offer in the way of inducements. The fertile fields that surround the city, the excellent race track, the fine railroad connections to all parts of the state, were exploited as they could not otherwise have been. In fact, Janesville made a good impression on the committee and the legislature as a whole. Milwaukee of course had the edge on the proposition all the time and but for the political aspirations of Senator White of the Fox River Valley, Janesville would have received more recognition than it did. However it is no time to be discouraged, the fight was good one and the next legislature may reverse the decision with an investigating committee named without regard to political aspirations of sectional questions. If the fair is to remain in Milwaukee it is the duty of every citizen to go ahead and help boost it and make it a success if only for a matter of state pride.

Now the colonel can drink his cow milk in peace, but thus far he has not said what kind of milk—Jersey, Holstein, Brown Swiss or Ayrshire—he prefers. It would be interesting to know. Perhaps it is just plain milk, though.

Now that the Twenty-five Thousand club is firmly organized, permanent directors named, the Commercial club on a firm footing, we may hope for something happening in Janesville within the next few months at least.

This is a queer world. Bishop Brent, who travels in the steerage because he thinks that is the place for a bishop, is considered a bit eccentric just for that.

Again has Missouri set her sister commonwealths an admirable example. She is teaching her judges not to write their decisions in advance of the trials.

According to Uncle Abner.
It seems as though there ought to be a prohibitive tariff on foreign noblemen.

Some of our best fly swatters don't amount to much in any other way. Picture postcards from friends who are traveling in foreign parts are very nice, but they hardly make a feller contented with his job in the stove mill.

Hirin' a kid to take care of a yard durin' fishin' and swimming season is about as satisfactory as usin' a orange stain for a mustard plaster.

One advantage that an automobile has over a boss is that a feller don't have to work in the hot sun all day pitchin' gasoline into a hayloft.

The scientist who can't discover a new nickel is a feller who never got a tailor bill in his life, and his wife never had any passion for millinery.

A feller that keeps a goat around the place can't keep anything else. It seems as though nothing kin happen in this country that can't be twisted into an insult against the feller.

The feller that is a success hasn't got time to stop and worry about the hard times.

There ain't nothing more, out of step than a last year's plug flat.

There ain't no use in getting sore at a feller who wears a green hat with a bow behind. Maybe his folks didn't teach him no better when he was young.

Chicago Fire Early Today Causes A Loss of $200,000—Building Was Unoccupied.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, June 4.—A four story building on Elston avenue extending three blocks along Wade street was destroyed early this morning by a spectacular fire entailing a loss of $200,000. The structure was occupied having recently been vacated by the Lake Canning Company a subsidiary of Armour and Company. The place is believed to have been started by thieves.

Occupants of twenty dwellings along Wade street fled from their homes, several of which caught fire. The heat was so intense for a time it was feared that a tank in the yards of the Gas company 200 feet away would explode. One fireman was severely injured by falling timbers.

The following High Class acts will appear.

Harry Patrick and the Saxon Sisters.

Mullini Sisters, Musical Act.

Wholesale Invitation.
There have been many innocent mistakes made by persons. Among them is one told of a certain clergyman who left a notice in his pulpit to be read by the preacher who exchanged with him. The minister neglected to denote carefully a private postscript, and the people were astonished to hear the stranger end by saying: "You will please come to dine with me at the parsonage after service."

His Uncommunicative Way.
"That old uncle of mine," Mrs. Jennie Kees-Ondego was saying, "is the slickest and most secretive human being I ever knew." When he gets a chill, he won't shake, and when he had the measles, he wouldn't let it break out on him."

Kodak Finishing Is An Art.

If it were a science, everybody would get the same results, by following a set of rules. But such is not the case. Each individual negative requires the exercise of judgment of the artists. They appreciate the beauties of each picture, and then work to bring it out. Are we doing all your finishing? Our rates are low.

If you don't trade with us we both lose money.

6% Coupon Gold Bonds

Dated July 1st, 1913. Denominations $100.00, $200.00, and $500.00. Due in 5 to 15 years. Principal and semi-annual interest payable at Bower City Bank, Janesville, Wis.

These bonds were authorized by the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin and, under its Certificate of Authority, all proceeds from sale of same are to be used in betterment of the Company's plant. The following is an estimate of the cost of improvements to be made.

Lot, and new exchange building with fixtures, heating plant, etc. $17,800.00

Extensions to underground plant and cutting over from old to new office 14,900.00

New switchboard, telephones, power plant and terminal rack (for which contracts have been made with Kellogg Switchboard and Supply Co.) 27,105.00

Estimated cost of improvements $59,805.00

Present value of plant 102,215.28

The value of the plant when improvements are completed will be about $162,020.28

These $45,000.00 of bonds are a first lien on this property and mature serially, $2100.00, in 5 years, and increasingly each year until the whole amount is paid, thus reducing the loan each year without releasing any portion of the property.

STATEMENT OF EARNINGS:

Gross earnings for year ending June 30, 1912.

Operating revenues $33,461.14

Operating expenses, including taxes, etc. 23,205.04

Net earnings $10,256.10

Or over three times the interest charges on the bonds to be issued, with present equipment, and there will be a material saving in operating expenses when new equipment is installed.

The company is controlled and managed by Dr. F. B. Farnsworth, President; J. L. Bostwick, Vice-President; Hiram D. Murdock, Treasurer; Richard Valentine, Secretary and General Manager, and I. F. Connors, Director.

All legal work connected with obtaining authority from the Railway Commission to issue these bonds, and drawing trust deed and bonds, has been performed by William Ruger, Sr., of Janesville, Wis.

The Company offers these bonds at par and accrued interest. On money deposited at Bower City Bank before July 1st, 1913, for purchase of bonds, 6% interest will be paid from date of deposit.

Any further information will be furnished at the office of Richard Valentine, Secretary, 501 Jackson Bldg., or by Hiram D. Murdock, at the Bower City Bank, Janesville, Wis.

THREE JUNE BRIDES ARE WEDDED TODAY

Miss Catherine E. Crowley Weds Charles E. Cox—Chase-Hyzer Nuptials This Afternoon—Klaska-Mulligan Weddings.

Miss Catherine E. Crowley, daughter of Mrs. John Crowley, 1112 Ravine street, and Charles E. Cox were united in marriage at eight o'clock this morning at St. Patrick's church. The Rev. Father Mahoney performed the ceremony in the presence of friends and relatives of the young couple and nuptial high mass was said.

Miss Irene Crowley, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and John Riley, cousin of the groom, was groomsmen. The bride was attired in a charming gown of white brocade satin trimmed with shadow lace and carried bride's roses. Her attendant wore a gown of pink voile trimmed with pearl and lace. Little Misses Harriet and Loretta Roessing were flower girls.

Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mrs. Casey at the organ and Miss Ethel Crowley, sister of the bride, violinist.

Following the ceremony a three course wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. A. Fish, and the bride and groom left on the morning train for Chicago and after a short wedding trip will make their home in this city. They will reside at 413 South Bluff street and will see at home to their friends after July 1st.

Guests from out of the city who were here for the wedding were: Mrs. John Caul of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Crowley of Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Crowley of Fond du Lac; and John Crowley of Milwaukee.

The bride has been a most successful teacher for several years past in the seventh grade of the Washington school and is prominent in social and church circles. The groom is the son of Mrs. William Cox and is employed at the Strickler Hay Tool company's office. He has a large number of friends here and is known as a young man of most exemplary qualities.

Miss Edna A. Chase, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Chase, and William Edward Hyzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hyzer, were wedded at three o'clock this afternoon at the bride's home on Terrace street. The Reverend David Beaton of the Congregational church read the marriage service in the presence of thirty guests.

Miss Bertha Chase, sister of the bride, was the bride's attendant, and Harry Hyzer, brother of the groom, was best man. The bride was attired in a gown of white crepe de chene with pearl and lace trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore a gown of white voile and carried pink roses.

The home was tastefully decorated for the occasion with smilax and white flowers in the parlor and smilax and pink roses in the dining room. A three course wedding dinner was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyzer left this afternoon on a short wedding journey and will be at home to their friends at 515 Glen street after July 1st. Both young people are well known in this city where they have always resided and have a large circle of friends. Mr. Hyzer is at present employed at the Rock County National Bank as teller.

Miss Mary Klaska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Klaska, 303 South Chatham street, and William Mulligan, were married at seven-thirty o'clock this morning at St. Mary's church. The Reverend Father W. A. Goebel officiating. Miss Elizabeth Klaska, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and James Mulligan, brother of the groom, was groomsmen. A large number of friends and relatives were present. A wedding dinner was served at the bride's home after the ceremony at the church. Mr. and Mrs. Mulligan will make their home in Janesville.

MAY BRING SUIT AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT

A. V. Lyle and C. M. Munson's Autos Meet in Collision Late Yesterday Afternoon.

That no one was killed, or at least seriously injured, when the car driven by A. V. Lyle and the machine operated by C. M. Munson collided at the corner of South Main and Court streets, late yesterday afternoon, is most fortunate. It appears that Mr. Lyle, accompanied by two ladies, was driving at a rate of speed estimated at eight miles per hour. Just as he reached the Main and Court street corner, C. M. Munson, driving his car across the Court street bridge at a high rate of speed to make the Court street hill, dashed across the street and despite Mr. Lyle's efforts the two cars crashed together. The front of Mr. Lyle's car was badly damaged and the force of the impact turned the Munson car completely around. That no one was killed was fortunate. Several spectators who saw the accident allege Munson was driving at an excessive rate of speed and cut across Mr. Lyle's path. Mr. Lyle sought a settlement with Munson this morning but alleges he was refused any compensation and that Munson says he had a right to go as fast as he did to make the hill. Failing at a settlement Mr. Lyle intimates he will bring suit to recover damages to his car and the matter will be threshed out in court. If this should be the case some interesting facts relative to the excessive rate of speed some cars in the city are driven in the main streets at various times will be brought out and it is possible the

FAMOUS AMERICAN INDIANS

ALBERT PATYSON TERTUNE

BLACK HAWK.

His Indian name—or the best known of his several Indian names—was Maka-Taim-Shekiak-Kiak. It means "Big Bird that is black" and is usually translated "Black Hawk." He had the figure of a Greek god and a head and face closely resembling Sir Walter Scott's.

Black Hawk began life in the Sac and Fox Nation, near Rock River, in Illinois. By the time he was fifteen he had gone through the torture and weird ceremonies entitling him to call himself a "brave." Next year, in 1782, the sixteen-year-old lad went at the head of a small war party against 100 Osage Indians and won his first victory. At nineteen he led 300 Sac and Foxes against 200 Osages. Fully 100 of the Osages were slain, and Black Hawk with his own hand killed six of his foes.

A Refusal to Yield.

In the War of 1812 Black Hawk was persuaded by Tecumseh to join the British ranks as a brigadier general. With 500 native followers he did valiant deeds against the United States, and incidentally learned much about civilized warfare. Keokuk, head chief of the tribe, was—or pretended to be—a friend of the government. Black Hawk hated Keokuk and started a strong opposition faction, with himself at its head. A treaty had been made whereby for a yearly payment of $1,000 the Sacs and Foxes were to turn over to the white men a 700-mile tract of land east of the Mississippi river. Accordingly Keokuk and his followers moved west across the Mississippi. Black Hawk refused to go. He said the officials had made the chiefs drunk and tricked them into the unfair treaty, and he refused to be bound by any such agreement. Then he started a confederacy of neighboring tribes for the purpose of destroying all settlers who should try to seize the Indian lands.

Bloodshed followed. Governor Reynolds of Illinois called out the militia. A brief campaign was followed by a new treaty, which Black Hawk signed. In accordance with this agreement he moved his braves and squaws across the Mississippi. But he only stayed there long enough to perfect his plan for a great Indian confederacy against the white men. Then, assured that many tribes would flock to his standard, he recrossed to the river's east bank. But only a small proportion of the warriors from other tribes whose aid he had relied on actually joined him. So he found himself, on the brink of war with the government and with perhaps less than half the following he needed for such a conflict. He sent a flag of truce to a government force that was pursuing him. The Indian who bore the flag was shot down by the soldiers. Whereat Black Hawk in fury attacked the troops (270 men under Major Isaiah Stillman) on May 14, 1832, and with only seventy Indians put them to utter rout. "The war was on!"

Black Hawk swept like wildfire through the nearby settlements, leaving flame and death in his wake. The government saw it had a real frontier war on its hands and sent broadcast a call for troops. (In the conflict that followed there were four officers who were later to win national fame. They were Abraham Lincoln, Winfield Scott, Zachary Taylor and Jefferson Davis.) Black Hawk attacked Apple River Fort on June 24, 1832, and next day defeated a strong detachment of United States troops. But the odds against him were too severe. As the white soldiers massed in greater numbers Black Hawk and his gallant braves were forced gradually backward, fighting furiously for every inch of the way until they reached the mouth of the Bad Ax river. A United States steamship lay off the shore.

Insult to a Fallen Foe. Black Hawk sent forward a flag of truce. The steamship disregarded the white flag and hurled shells into the Indian camp, where squaws and papooses were huddled. The pursuing troops finished the rout. The Indian army was cut to pieces. Black Hawk escaped, but was soon captured. He was held prisoner for months at Fortress Monroe, then taken on a tour of New York and other big cities that he might see the full power of the white man. He was at last permitted to return home, only to find that the government had made Keokuk chief of his "old-time" warriors. Beaten, deposed, hopeless, the old chief did not long survive his disgrace. He died Oct. 3, 1838, near Des Moines, Ia.

When Black Hawk was captured in 1832 he turned to his fellow prisoners and cried: "Farewell, my nation! Black Hawk tried to save you and avenge your wrongs. He shed the blood of many of the whites. Now he is a prisoner and his plans are overthrown. He can do no more. He hears his end. His sun is setting and will rise never again. Farewell to Black Hawk!"

Norman B. Wood thus powerfully sums up the Black Hawk war: "It was caused by the white man's avarice and determination to swindle the Indian. . . . It began by the deliberate murder of the bearer of a white flag of truce and it ended in an indiscriminate massacre of men, women and helpless children while the chief and warriors were suing for peace and trying to surrender."

When it Had Another Meaning. "Gown" now means a swell dress, but there are old-fashioned girls who will blush if you call it by that name.

WAR TALK BOSH, SAY JAP PEACE ENVOYS

Dr. J. Soyeda (top) and T. Kamiya.

Dr. J. Soyeda, the foremost financier of Japan, and T. Kamiya, secretary of the Tokyo chamber of commerce, have come to America for the purpose of smoothing over the sensitive feelings of Japanese in this country who were miffed by the California anti-alien land bill. Both declare that the talk of war between the United States and the Flowery Kingdom is bosh, and that the Japanese entertain only the friendliest feelings toward Americans.

CLINTON

Clinton, June 4.—Mrs. Nettie Scott spent Sunday in Lake Geneva, Wis., visiting relatives.

C. A. Salisbury, just north of town, is having an unusual experience with foxes. They have killed several young ones and have seen a large number of old ones which they have been unable to get close enough to kill. They have killed a large number of big chickens.

J. A. Hamilton and N. R. Buckley are in Chicago.

Fred Miller has built an addition to the rear of his barber shop and pool room, and has added an additional pool table, and is now tearing out the old front and stairway and will put in a modern up-to-date front.

Mrs. F. Cookley left for her home yesterday after a couple of weeks' visit here with friends.

Mrs. G. W. Hare was in Beloit yesterday morning.

Attorney A. A. Cleveland went to Baraboo yesterday morning on business and may go to St. Paul before returning.

Mr. and Mrs. George Graves went to Delafield lake to occupy their cottage for three days.

Miss Angie Douglas was brought home from Beloit, Saturday afternoon, by J. F. Kemmerer in his auto. She is still very weak from her long illness.

Miss Florence Bounds left yesterday for her home. During the past year Miss Bounds was assistant in our high school. She has many warm friends who will sincerely regret that she will not return next year.

Mrs. Albert S. Parker went to Chicago yesterday.

John O. Ecker has purchased the middle part of the old Commercial House and Jacob Miller is moving it onto Mr. Hocker's lot on East street.

Cause for Worry.

Friend—"Why, Elvira, what's the matter?" Elvira—"Oh, I don't know, only I'm worried to death! I've had the same girl six weeks, and she doesn't talk about leaving yet!" Friend—"She doesn't?" Elvira—"No, not a word! She must be in love with my husband!"—London Opinion.

FEARFUL CASE OF PILES CURED

Suffered Intensely. Resinol Brought Instant Relief.

The same soothing, healing, antiseptic medication that makes Resinol so remarkably successful for skin troubles, affords immediate relief in the most distressing cases of itching, painful and bleeding piles. Miss Mabel Russell, 1234 N. Gay St., Baltimore, writes: "April 24, 1913.—I had a most severe case of piles. I suffered day and night. I could not sleep or even lie down, and everyone told me the only relief for me would be an operation, and that I dreaded. I was almost wild with pain. I read of Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment and sent for samples. The first application gave me instant relief. After using only two jars of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, I can truthfully say that Resinol completely cured me. I hope all other poor sufferers will read of Resinol as I know it will help them as it did me, for I can never say enough in praise of it—for it does more than is even claimed for it."—(Signed) Mabel Russell.

Better proof even than such a letter is to try Resinol yourself and see how quickly the trouble disappears. For free trial write to Dept. 46-S, Resinol Baltimore, Md. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists.

"DOC" WILEY SAYS THIS IS THE FINEST BABY IN CAPTIVITY; SOME BABE, ANYWAY

Dr. Wiley's baby and the "Doc" himself.

Here's the very latest picture of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the former chief chemist of the department of agriculture at Washington, and his year-old son, Harvey W., Jr. The pure food expert has some decided views on babies, and of course he thinks his own is the best of them all.

This picture was taken while the doctor had the baby in charge and was made to surprise Mrs. Wiley. She found the finished copies of the photograph on her dinner plate on her baby's first anniversary a few days ago.

SON OF SECRETARY OF TREASURY TO WED PRETTY ETHEL McCORMICK OF BALTIMORE

Miss Ethel McCormick.

A romance beginning several years ago when the family of the present secretary of the treasury had a summer residence at Irvington-on-the-Hudson, New York, at the time the mother of Miss McCormick also had a country home there, culminated recently in the engagement of Miss Ethel McCormick, the talented daughter of Mrs. Isaac E. Emerson of Baltimore, to Francis H. McAdoo, son of William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury.

SCIENCE NOTES

Lieutenant Gratz, of the German Army, has succeeded in crossing Africa in a motor car. The most important geographical result of the enterprise appears to be the discovery that there is a continuous waterway from the source of the Chamberi, in Northern Rhodesia, to the River Congo, which is thus proved to be the longest river in Africa. In 1909 the same official crossed Africa in a motor car.

The common fowl is not mentioned in the Old Testament, and was probably introduced into Palestine after the Roman conquest. The "unicorn" of the Old Testament was probably the Syrian aurochs, now extinct. That the "beast" was not the hippopotamus is made probable by the fact that there is no record of the latter animal in Syria or Palestine in historical times. The "tires" of the Bible were the "tires" of the hippopotamus, whose seeds were poisonous, the "tires" were probably the narcissus, while the "tires" was the poppy anemone.

A German inventor has devised a special projectile which is intended to swell dirigibles, and which is designed not only to pierce a gas envelope, but also to set fire to the dirigible. This projectile, fired from the old German rifle known as "model 71," which has a caliber of 11 millimeters, is provided with little wings that "pop" in flight under the influence of a spring compressed while the projectile is still in the rifle barrel, but expanded as soon as the muzzle is passed. An ordinary bullet leaves such a small hole in an envelope that the gas escapes through it but slowly. This new projectile, however, the improved bullet tear a hole of appreciable size in the fabric. What is more, they retard the bullet sufficiently to cause a friction device to ignite fulminate contained in the bullet.

Another attempt to cross the Atlantic Ocean by the shortest route will be made during the coming spring by a man named Beekman, of Cologne, whose preparations are progressing as rapidly as possible. He intends to start from the Du Roche, Cape Verde, Spain, and fly across the Atlantic to the Azores, the Azores, or 1,000 miles. From there he is to attempt the flight across the ocean to Halifax, which will mean about 1,800 miles. He will take on board 2,000 pounds of gasoline and will fly for about 11 hours at 60 miles an hour for the Azores trip. Then he will take on 4,000 pounds of gasoline and the flight to Halifax will last 22 hours, a somewhat slower speed. This German transatlantic machine is to be a monoplane of no less than 33 feet in length and 60 feet spread, having a supporting surface of 540 square feet. The weight of the aeroplane is 10,000 pounds, and the framework of steel tubes. It is to have two revolving cylinder motors, each driving one propeller. Wireless apparatus and searchlights will be carried.

CAPITAL SOCIETY NOT ALL GIVEN TO FRIVOLITIES; MANY OF THE "SMARTEST" MAIDS AND MATRONS COULD EARN OWN LIVING

Left to right: Miss Mary Maceon (top), Miss Yvonne Townsend, Miss Dorothy Williams and Miss Alva Meyer. The "smart" society of the national capital, it has been discovered, is not so frivolous as some think. In fact, there are many maids and matrons in Washington who could actually earn their own living if it were necessary. Among those in this charmed circle are Miss Mary Maceon, daughter of the retiring representative from Arkansas, who has a fine voice and considerable skill in using it; Miss Yvonne Townsend, daughter of Mrs. Lawrence Townsend, who is a splendid dancer and could make money on the stage; and Misses Dorothy Williams and Alva Meyer, sister-in-law of Joe Lister and daughter of the secretary of the navy, respectively, who are famous equestriennes and could command good salaries as circus riders.

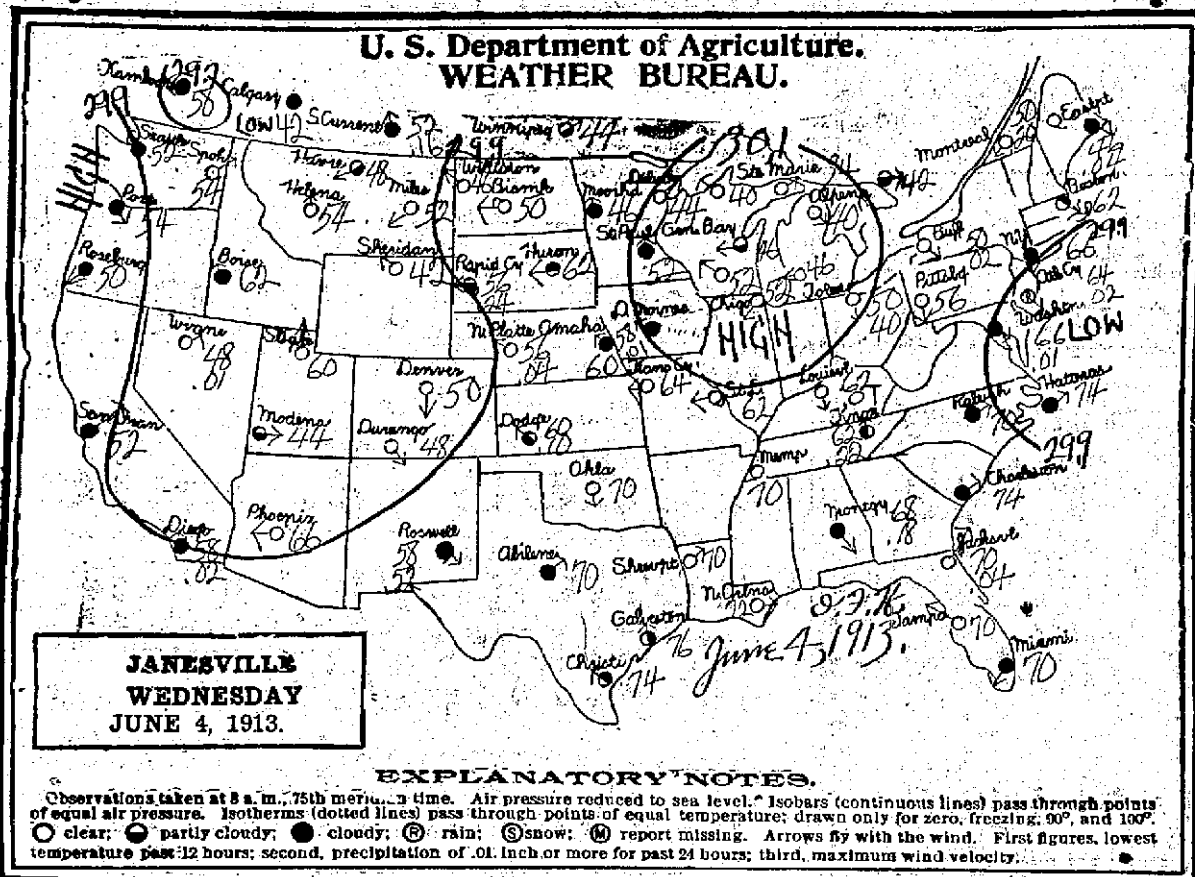

AT LOVE'S CALL LEAVES LONELY HOME AND HUSBAND; NOW SOCIAL OUTCAST AND PRISON INMATE SHE PAYS THE PENALTY

Terrific punishment is being meted out to Mrs. Florence Lulu Myers, pretty young wife of a Wyoming cattle king, who grew lonely on her husband's ranch and ran away with a young man who would give her the attentions which her husband denied. In order to escape with her lover it was necessary for her to steal a horse. For this crime she has been sentenced to spend two years in the penitentiary.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

GOOD FOR ITS OWN SAKE.

A principle is impersonal. It belongs to one as much as another. It belongs to him most who most belongs to it, who is most loyal to it. Good is principle. It should be loved because it is good.

The right thing is the only thing worth while. Wrong is a negation, a subtraction from our attainment and happiness. We talk of self denial, but we deny ourselves the thing that is not for us in order that we may have more abundantly of the thing that is for us.

In the real sense the only self denial is in doing evil. That does take away from us actually. But to deny ourselves a thing that injures us only adds to us. To injure another is to injure ourselves, for action and reaction are equal. So that to refrain from injuring another actually helps ourselves.

This, in a way, is the selfish view of the case. We do right, because that furthers us, most happiness. But there is an instinct in the soul that tells us to do good without stopping to consider what its effects on us may be; to do good because it is good, to do good for the good's sake. And this is the proper motive from which to act. This takes out the element of self seeking and puts us on the impersonal plane of acting from a principle. In this case we help others because we wish them well and want to make them happy. We act for all because our hearts go out to all and we would give them a blessing.

When we act on this higher plane we are expressing our better natures, our souls. We are coming into harmony with the laws of our own being. We are shifting our point of motive from the brute self to the divine self. We are gaining harmony between the different elements of our own nature—that is, making the lower subject to the higher. We are making the lion and lamb, as both are expressed within us, lie down together, with the lamb as master. We are passing from a dual, warring nature into one nature at peace with itself.

This is the highest wisdom. It is innate in each of us. If we but listen to the still, small voice we realize the truth without being told it by another. All seeming good that is not in conformity to this real good is a delusion. There is no truth, but truth. That truth is in our own souls, and if we but hearken to its promptings it will show us the way.

The lesson of living is to learn how to do good for its own sake.

SWAMP-ROOT is not recommended for medicinal purposes, but it is a powerful purgative and may be found in the market. It is a powerful purgative and may be found in the market. It is a powerful purgative and may be found in the market.

BY WALT MASON

When you're feeling sore and fussy, prone to reel off language cussy that would shame a Newgate hussy, take a walk; when I'm mad I walk ten metres; all away my anger, peters; peace will come to him who takes round a block. When the world seems dark and dreary as TAKE A a prison in Sibiry, and WALK your heart is sad and weary, take a walk. Fate throws bricks instead of posies, and she hits you where your nose is! Comfort comes to him who moseys round a block. If your wife has made a blunder and you feel like raising thunder your ancestral rooties, under take a walk; all the care your wife's enduring, all the ills she's daily curing you'll remember while you're touring round a block. If the kids persist in rolling you by whooping and tumbling, till you feel your temper spoiling, take a walk; you'll be far less grieved and graveled and your ire will be unraveled by the time that you have unraveled round a block. Would you rant some, as a token that your manly heart is broken? Leave the bitter word unspoken—take a walk; you'll be glad so glad you scooted leaving your old horn untattooed, by the time you have pivoted round a block.

WEATHER.
There is still no active atmospheric disturbance over the country, but there is evident a more rapid eastward drift of atmospheric conditions. The area of high barometer that was in the upper Missouri valley yesterday has now reached the lake region, and the barometric depression that was in Eastern Ontario, has now reached the Atlantic.
There have been light rains in the Appalachians, and on the western Plains from Manitoba to New Mexico. Moderate temperatures prevail. In this vicinity the weather will continue fair tonight and Thursday, except that the unsettled weather now prevailing in the Missouri valley is likely to reach western Wisconsin tonight or Thursday. It will be warmer tonight.

SERIOUS DECLINES ON STOCK EXCHANGE

New York Market Shows Heaviest Depression Since Panic of 1907 with Stocks Poured in Regardless of Prices.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, June 4.—The excitement on the stock exchange during the first hour of today's market probably was without parallel since the panic of 1907. Stocks were literally poured out regardless of quoted prices with declines greatest in the Standard shares.
One of the main factors making for the liquidation was the overnight news from Washington indicating a radical attitude on the part of the administration in connection with the American Tobacco Company and the Standard Oil Company.
Another influence was the decidedly lower level of prices quoted by London before our opening. All advices from abroad indicated increased pessimism, not only in London, but at all the continental financial centers.
Inquiry among local banks and trust companies failed to elicit any satisfactory explanation for the sharp drop in prices except the note of extreme conservatism founded in those quarters. The steady decline of the past few weeks has caused a general calling of loans by financial institutions.
This, as yet, has made only slight impressions upon the money market, but a stiffening of rates for both call and time accommodations is expected before the end of the month.
Within the first hour sales of stocks amounted to 300,000 shares and 50 new low records for the year were made, with losses ranging from one to four points among the Standard issues.
The average of prices was at the lowest point since the 1907 panic. Some of the new bond quotations were as low as Baltimore and Ohio convertible, New York City new four and one half, and St. Paul four and a half, all were depressed.

FARRIER'S KNIFE

Guide to Engage Hoof Is at Outer Point of Blade.

What many people will ask, is a farrier? For this good, old-fashioned term for horseshoer and blacksmith is gradually falling into disuse. So then, it is a horseshoer's knife that a North Carolina shoemaker has shown to have worth. The purpose of this implement is to remove any excess horny matter of a horse's hoof before the new shoe is adjusted, as all of us have seen the smith do. But the particular feature of this particular knife is an arched member that is attached to the outer end of the blade at right angles to the blade. This arched member terminates in a guide for the hoof, the hoof maker saws that the knife is drawn evenly across the hoof, inasmuch as it extends across the plane of the blade. With this implement the hoof may be trimmed smoothly and surely.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

A BIG LITTLE THING.

SAY over again, and yet once again, that thou dost love me. Beloved, I amid the darkness greeted. By a doubtful spirit-voice, in that doubt's pain. Cry, "Speak once more thou lovest!" Who can fear Too many stars, though each in heaven shall roll. Too many flowers though each shall crown the year? Say, thou dost love me love me, love me—tell! The silver silence—only minding, Dear, To love me also in silence with thy soul."

—Elizabeth Manning.

A woman writes to me to tell me that she is miserably unhappy because she doubts her husband's love. "He told me that he is actually unkind to me," she says, "or that he has anything to do with other women. He's not that sort. He's steady and kind and quite generous, but Miss Cameron, he never tells me that he loves me. When we were first married he used to tell me how sweet and good I was and how he loved me, but he never does now. Perhaps I ought to be content because he is kind and a 'good provider,' and doesn't beat me, but oh, Miss Cameron, I want him to love me and tell me so. Am I very foolish?"

No, dear lady, you're not foolish at all, just feminine, eternally feminine. Ever since women were women they have been feeling as you do, and so long as women are women they will feel the same. If ever they absorb enough of that much vaunted masculine reasonableness to cease feeling that way, then they won't be women; men won't love them any more and the world will die out. But I don't think there's any immediate danger.

No women ever get tired of being told that she is loved. No woman is ever content with silent proofs of a man's love. She might as well go along with the "I love you" unsupported by deeds, but never without the verbal reassurance.

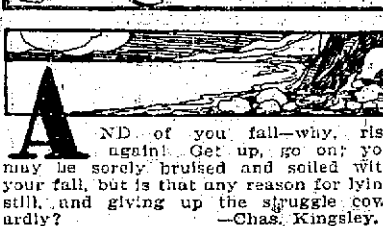

If men would accept this feminine feeling as a fact and act accordingly instead of laughing at it and reasoning about it there would be more happy homes.

Nor is it sufficient to tell a woman once or twice a year that you love her. The man who asks, "Where's that half-dollar I gave you last week?" is no stinger than the man who expects a semi-annual "I love you" to suffice.

"But why would my wife expect me to stop loving her anyhow?" asks a much puzzled man. I can't remember who it was that wrote, "Torments me still the fear that love died in its last expression," but I'm sure it was a woman, for surely only a woman would know that haunting fear, which is always somewhere in the secret heart chamber of the happiest and most confident of us.

Don't ask why, Mr. Man, I can't tell you, for you are a man and I am a woman, and there are some explanations that can never be carried across that eternal chasm. But if you will only take this truth on faith and act upon it I'm sure you will make your home a happier and hence a better place.

Pepper Loaf.—Take a pound of beef and half a pound of pork, grind fine and add one onion and one green pepper chopped, one egg, salt and pepper to season; make in the form of a loaf, lay on strips of bacon and bake one hour. The last half of the baking, pour over a cup of tomato.

If one has a scrap of an old India shawl or a Paisley or broche, save the bits mount them, have a pretty frame and some brass handles put on it, and you will have a tray that will be an heirloom worth hanging down. Rare bits of lace or embroidery, cross-stitch or other antique treasures may be used in the same way.

Clean chamomile gloves with flour and gasoline. Put on the gloves and wash as if washing the hands, then hang in the air and dust out all the flour.

Every Day Talks For Every Day People...

While in Chicago for the Gazette my attention was often attracted to the real estate dealers' signs in the outlying districts that read: "Let your rent buy a home."

This is a very alluring phrase and, as a matter of fact, it is. It will find there is a good bit of fiction in it. In buying a home on the installment plan one cannot apply all of their former rent money on their home, for when a man contracts to buy a home he also assumes the payment of the interest on his loan, the taxes, insurance and other minor charges against his property.

I called on one of these real estate dealers and asked him what he would kindly explain the way they work this plan of "let your rent buy your home."

To illustrate how the plan worked he told me of a case that would, he said, serve as a sample for many. A printer who had been married fifteen years, drawing $30.00 per week, was not saving a cent. His wife induced him to call on this real estate man and who was at the time helping to develop a small subdivision in a good neighborhood. One of the first things to know was how much money they had. They hadn't any. But they were sure of one thing—they wanted a home.

It was arranged that they would deposit $10.00 per week with the contractor until they had a building worth $100.00. When the printer and his wife purchased a six-room and bath cottage on a 35x125 ft. lot for $2,875. The $100.00 they had was applied on the place and possession was given at once, they having the contract to purchase.

The contractor held the title and placed a mortgage of $1,500 on the property with a down-town bank.

Payments on the purchase price were made at the rate of $35 per month, including the interest. The amounts paid on the principal were credited on the back of the purchase contract as the payments were made. In a little more than a year they had paid for their home down as far as the $1,500 mortgage and were given title to their property subject to the mortgage.

It would have been easier and cheaper for them to have continued living in a flat, but the landlord would have had the benefit of the rent.

This plan of home-buying is being successfully carried out in all the outlying districts of Chicago. Why can't it be done in Janesville? We can be a city of home-owners if we say so.

The average man in Janesville is not earning $30.00 per week, but I also know that the average six-room house here can be bought for less than the price paid in Chicago. So summing it all up our chances are every bit as good, if not a bit better, to own a home here.

It's a very fine thing when you are young to have no responsibility that a home entails, on our shoulders. Father time, however, is going to put his stamp on us all and in his rapid, noiseless flight will bring to you and I a period of our life in which we may no longer go out and win.

Today then, let us all resolve that while we have the power we will win a home of our own, so that in our declining years we will be immune from want; we will experience the joys of our own vine and fig-tree.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Is it proper for a girl keeping company with her chum's brother to go up to her chum's house? I am eighteen years old. (2) Is it proper for a boy to stand at the front door and talk to a girl after taking her home? (3) If a girl had been keeping company with a boy and he should go away some place and work, should she go with other boys? (4) If her chum invites her she may go, but she should not go too often. (5) If she does not invite him in, he should take his leave at once. (6) If you are engaged to the one who has gone and you really love him, you won't care to go with other boys very much. If you are not engaged there is no reason why you should not go with others.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl eighteen years old and will be very grateful for any advice you may give me. I keep steady company with a young man, a little my senior, for over a year. We thought everything of each other and were to be married in a year or so, as soon as finances would permit. Some time ago he changed his position and now has a desk next to a seemingly attractive girl. He took her several places with-out telling me, and when I asked him about it he acted very unconcerned. Lately he has broken several dates with me, but when he is with me he says he can never give me up. He admits admiring this other girl but says it's only passing fancy. What shall I do? Some have asked me to leave him, but that's easier said than done. I have gone two or three places with another young man, but that does no good. I feel that I can't give him up, for fear of losing him. Sometimes he hardly speaks to me.

DOUBTFUL DOROTHY. Your young man isn't much more than a "kid," my dear, and really hasn't settled what kind of a girl he likes best. You may really be the one, but about the best thing for you to do now is to give him free rein. Let him see that you can do without him. Go with other young men as much as possible. Let him think you have a good time and are perfectly happy, no matter how you feel. He may try to show he doesn't care, at first, but in time he will tell you that you're not treating him right and then you may be sure he cares for you. If he doesn't feel himself neglected and deeply injured by your conduct, you may know he doesn't love you and make up your mind to put him out of your life. You are young enough to do it now. It will hurt but time heals everything.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Is it right for a girl when out walking to walk on the right hand side of the boy on the inside of the walk? (2) If a boy gives his girl friend his ring should she replace it if she lost it? (3) Is my writing good? (4) Should girls of sixteen and seventeen have steady company?

TWO CHUMS. (1) The boy should walk on the curb side. (2) Yes, if she is not engaged to marry him. (3) Yes. (4) I don't think so, my dear. Have plenty of boy friends, but don't allow any of them to monopolize all your time unless you are old enough to know the kind of man you really want for a husband. The "steady company" at sixteen and seventeen is seldom the kind of fellow you want to marry when you are eighteen or twenty, but he'll keep the other men away from you if you'll let him and in that way you may never come to know the right one.

Domestic Science DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY Mrs. Alice Mitchell Kirk

There are some meats which are especially appetizing, during the winter, and it is better to prepare them more cheaply at home than purchased at the delicatessen shops blazed by the point.

Ham, boiled or baked, makes a delicious cold meat at any time for luncheon, supper, picnics or sandwiches, and every housekeeper should know how to cook it well. Tongue or corn beef are easily cooked in hot water, and require very little watching and are a fireless cooker. Veal loaf is baked, but is reasonable and a favorite meat, either hot or cold with almost everyone.

Materials—Small ham, one-fourth teaspoonful; pepper, one-fourth teaspoonful; cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful; celery seed, one-half teaspoonful; chopped onions, two; sweet cider, one-half gallon; baking soda.

Directions—Wash the ham thoroughly, rub well with baking soda and scrub with the vegetable brush. Rinse in cold water, trim neck, and lay on a sheet by adding slowly one-half cup of water to one cup of flour; roll out in a sheet and cover the entire flesh of the ham, tucking down close to the skin. Fill the pan with-thirds full of hot water. Stand in the oven and bake four hours in a moderate oven, basting often.

When done remove the paste and skin, trim, remove meat from bone, and decorate with a outfit of paper. Place on a hot platter fat side down, garnish with parsley and pickled beets cut in fancy shapes. This is very nice served with cider.

It is difficult at the present time to secure sweet cider, slice four or five tart apples without peeling in the given amount of water instead of cider, or a bottle of good cooking apple or orange juice used in place of cider.

Serve with sweet potatoes, boiled, tomatoes, spinach or corn salad and a cup of cranberry sauce. It is the usual time to allow to a pound, if desired to serve cold, let cool in the water or cider in which it was baked.

Materials—Small lean ham, small onion, one clove, two bay leaf, one celery seed, 1 teaspoonful.

Directions—Choose a small, lean ham—about eight pounds, wash it well in lukewarm water, rub over with the vegetable brush and scrub well with the remaining ingredients, sticking the cloves in the skin. Cover with cold water and bring slowly to the boiling point. Skim, cover and simmer gently for 25 minutes. Fasten the cover and boil rapidly five minutes and place in the cooking vessel. It is so hot that it is better to remove from the liquor, skin, put into a baking pan, sprinkle with bread crumbs and pepper and brown in the oven for about ten minutes.

Corn Beef. Materials—Corn beef, four pounds. Directions—Select a nice piece of the brisket for corn beef if you like a streak of fat. If the meat has been in the brine some time, soak for several hours in cold water and bring slowly to the boiling point. Skim, cover and simmer gently for twenty-five minutes. Fasten the cover, boil rapidly for 5 minutes and place in the cooking vessel. Transfer to a hot platter before dinner, set the corn beef over the fire and bring to the boiling point; add the cabbage cut in quarters; cover, bring to the boiling point again and boil five minutes. Transfer at once to the cooker and leave until ready to use.

Corn beef is perfect with long, slow cooking and cooked in this manner there will be no odors through the house. It is a healthy, nutritious value, but gives variety to our diet in summer. If desired cold, partly cool in the water in which it was boiled, remove to a dish, cover and cool in heavy weight top, that the meat may be well pressed.

Materials—Small ham, one-fourth teaspoonful; pepper, one-fourth teaspoonful; cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful; celery seed, one-half teaspoonful; chopped onions, two; sweet cider, one-half gallon; baking soda.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Give your health the best chance possible, for some illness threatens you. Strife and arguments over unimportant things are wearing and will gain you nothing.

Those born today will lead eventful lives, and poverty and riches will fall to their lot. They lack judgment and will often be ungrateful to their good friends and the fool of the insincere. Training for patience and calm judgment, of values will help them.

HOW CAMILLE DE VERLAC BECAME FAMOUS FOR THE BEAUTY OF HER HANDS AND ARMS

Free Prescription That Can Be Prepared At Home.

Camille de Verlac, famous for the beauty of her hands and arms, in a recent interview says: "If every woman knew about the prescription that has caused all this talk about my hands and arms, they could make their hands and arms just as beautiful as mine. I am glad to have the opportunity to give my recipe free to the world. It will help every woman to improve her personal appearance. When I asked her if she would allow me to publish the prescription, she quickly answered: 'Certainly, only to glad to have you do it.' Turning to a desk she wrote in on a slip of paper and handed it to me. Here it is: 'Go to any drug store, get a one-ounce bottle of Kukul compound. Pour the entire contents into a two-ounce bottle and add quarter-ounce witch hazel, then fill with water. Apply night and morning. This prescription gives the skin a velvety softness and obliterates all defects such as freckles, tan, sun spots, roughness and rudeness. A single application works a marvelous transformation. This prescription applied to the neck and shoulders with equally gratifying results. It is absolutely harmless and will positively not stimulate or produce a growth of hair. It is deliciously cool and soothing and is not affected by perspiration. It will rub off."

When I asked her if she would allow me to publish the prescription, she quickly answered: 'Certainly, only to glad to have you do it.' Turning to a desk she wrote in on a slip of paper and handed it to me. Here it is: 'Go to any drug store, get a one-ounce bottle of Kukul compound. Pour the entire contents into a two-ounce bottle and add quarter-ounce witch hazel, then fill with water. Apply night and morning. This prescription gives the skin a velvety softness and obliterates all defects such as freckles, tan, sun spots, roughness and rudeness. A single application works a marvelous transformation. This prescription applied to the neck and shoulders with equally gratifying results. It is absolutely harmless and will positively not stimulate or produce a growth of hair. It is deliciously cool and soothing and is not affected by perspiration. It will rub off."

DINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—It's kind of hard for Father to remember that fur back!

THE DAUGHTER OF DAVID KERR

By HARRY KING TOOTLE

Illustrations by RAY WALTERS

"Gee! I wish I had a pa like yern," was all that she could say. "He can't know that such things are happening here—every day in Belmont."

"If he did, I reckon he wouldn't tell you," Little Ella was more conversant with the ways of the world.

"And what did you say finally becomes of this money you have to pay?"

"The boss gets it."

"Oh, yes. This boss—who is he? What does he do to earn his money?"

"That's what he gets for perfectin' us. He keeps the bulls from juggin' us."

"And if you don't pay?"

"He gives 'em the tip an' we're hauled in, and sent up for thirty days. This didn't accord with Gloria's idea of law and justice. Here was a man who, without authority and as his whim dictated, arrested people because they would not do something unlawful. And the police, instead of being instruments of the law, were under the direction of this boss."

"Can't the law touch him?" she asked.

"Huh! He's the law in this town."

"Do you mean to tell me there is a man so base," demanded the daughter of David Kerr indignantly, "this boss, that spends his time collecting this money?"

Little Ella had come to realize soon after they had met that she was dealing with a fledgling. Hence she bore with her and answered her question patiently.

"Gosh! Little time he spends collecting money down here." Her tone indicated clearly that he spent no time at all. "What's the cops for? What's Mike Noonan for? He's got other things to do himself. I once knowed a young lawyer, an' he tol' me the boss got his from the big gambler's houses, an' the street car company, an' the electric light company, an' big things like that."

"Then you're just a drop in the bucket." The magnitude of the "system" was just beginning to dawn on Gloria. She now saw that its ramifications were many, that there must be much that even this woman, for all her knowledge, could know. Little of while she could learn all from Little Ella, she could learn enough to make her father investigate.

"There's enough of us drops in Belmont to fill a pretty big bucket," the girl admitted. "Gimme a drink of water, will you? I never was so dry at a Dutch picnic."

Gloria poured a glass of water for her. Then, feeling that she had not been considerate in asking the girl to tax her little strength by the recital of a story that sadly wasted her vital energy, she begged her to rest.

"You're still a bit feverish. Lie down now and rest. Try to go to sleep, and I'll sit here and read."

Soon her patient seemed to sleep, and Gloria picked up a book and tried to read. The revelations to which she had listened made all possibility of concentration upon the printed page out of the question. Suddenly it occurred to her that she did not know the boss's name. Just as this came into her mind, the girl turned restlessly and opened her eyes. Finding that she was awake, Gloria asked:

"Tell me, what's the name of the boss?"

"Eh? What?" Little Ella was not thoroughly awake.

"What's the name of the boss? I want to tell father."

Best Medicine for Colds

When a druggist recommends a remedy for colds, throat and lung troubles, you can feel sure that he knows what he is talking about. C. Lower, Druggist, of Marion, Ohio, writes of Dr. King's New Discovery: "I know Dr. King's New Discovery is the best throat and lung medicine I sell. It cured my wife of a severe bronchial cold after all other remedies failed. It will do the same for you if you are suffering with a cold or any bronchial, throat or lung cough. Keep a bottle on hand all the time for everyone in the family to use. It is a home doctor. Price 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by People's Drug Co."

"His name? Oh, it's Kerr. He's of Dave Kerr. Ever hear of him?"

Having roused herself sufficiently to answer the question, Little Ella sank again into a doze.

As for Gloria, it almost seemed that the words meant nothing to her at all. So slowly did her mind accept this intelligence that the fall of the book unnoticed to the floor did not seem related in point of time. Yet in fact it told that her mind was intent upon one question: Who was the boss of Belmont?

"Kerr! Kerr! Old Dave Kerr," still rang in her ears. "The boss? Dave Kerr? I wonder what relation. The very ignominy of the thought restrained her. 'No, no, no. It's all a mistake. It can't be—I couldn't believe it. There can't be any relation of my father's—my father's—' It would be maddening, the suspicion of such a thing. Why, my father's the soul of honor."

Without warning, Joe Wright came into her mind; Joe Wright, her evil genius.

"What did the paper say? The king of underhand manipulators, David Kerr! The king!" she muttered aloud, and clapped her hand over her mouth at the word. The thought of such a thing widened her eyes with terror and set her heart to beating high with sudden fear. "But not this, O God! Not this."

She repeated the pathetic words of Little Ella.

"There's enough of us drops in Belmont to fill a pretty big bucket—oh, it can't be my father! It can't be my father! He has a daughter—it's all a horrible mistake. There must be another David Kerr, I'm sure."

Gloria sprang from her chair and seized the sleeping woman roughly by the arm.

"Listen to me. Tell me something more of David Kerr."

She shook Little Ella into a conscious state and repeated the question.

"Which David Kerr is it?"

"There's only one I know of," answered Ella. "He's got a real estate office on Fifth street."

"What?"

The net of circumstances was being drawn tighter and tighter about one man, and that man her father.

"Are you sure he's the man, girl?"

Gloria asked the question in as subdued a manner as possible. Suddenly she had become afraid. She did not wish to arouse suspicion.

"Sure, he's the man." It tried one's patience to be roused from sleep, and then to meet with contradiction was enough to make one petulant. To settle the question so that she could go back to sleep, Little Ella added:

"Look on my bureau and you'll see a program of the Dave Kerr Democratic club ball."

Gloria walked over to the bureau with its jumble of odds and ends, and began to turn over the things mechanically.

"No, not that. Look behind that photograph. That's it. That's his picture on the front."

Gloria gave one look. The picture was that of her father.

For a time Little Ella chattered drowsily, but Gloria did not hear. She was prostrated by a grief that numbed her every faculty. The foundation of her faith had been swept away.

What she beheld seemed to burn itself into her brain. On the cover of the program were the words: "Annual Ball. David Kerr Democratic Club," and the picture of her father. It was the truth; her father was the boss of Belmont. So different was her doubt tion from that pinnacle on which she had thought herself to be that the whole world would have to go through a revolutionary orientation. There was nothing in her life which would not have to be adjusted anew because of this revelation.

As she turned the pages of the program, pages filled with liquor and saloon advertisements, her thoughts were all of herself. Resentment and anger there were, directed toward her father, but now in the first moments when she saw herself as Belmont saw her humiliation conquered all other emotions. Her first thought of Joe Wright was that he had kept the truth from her. She could not grow more sick at heart, comparatively feeling was out of the question because she was completely crushed, but she saw as in a book that had been written and laid away as finished, the sacrifice he had made for her, the supreme renunciation he had made because he would not denounce her father before her.

The thought of how different her homecoming had been from what she had planned made her laugh hysterically. Then when she recalled the few staunch friends she had made she clutched wildly at the hope that after all it was untrue.

"It's a lie, every word of it, a lie his enemies invent. What big man but has about him envious wasps that prick and sting? Judge Gilbert, Mr. Kendall, Doctor Hayes, they'll all say that he—Joe Wright! What of him? What will he say?"

She put this man that had loved her in one balance and the other men in the other. He outweighed them all, and the momentary hope was gone. She could see it all now. As the baffling attitude of Belmont revealed itself to her bit by bit she buried her face in her arms and sobbed.

"And I was so proud, oh, so proud!" moaned the daughter of David Kerr. "Joe! Joe! You did love me—I sent him away, and I never understood. Now I can see it all. The social slights—the cold disdains I could not understand—the whispers that died away before they reached my ears—all, all, all because I was David Kerr's daughter, David Kerr, the boss of Belmont."

Her father's name exercised a fascination over her. Again and again she repeated it, her lips curling with scorn.

"David Kerr, the boss of Belmont!" she cried with a contempt that wrung her heart. "David Kerr, the king of underhand manipulators! David Kerr, the man these wretched women look to for protection—and pay him for it!"

This new thought was a poisoned arrow that sank into her heart. As she dwelt upon it, her eyes fell upon her handsome tailored coat and her beautiful hat she had laid aside.

"And with the money these unhappy creatures pay, he—God in Heaven! Where did the money come from for these clothes I wear? What shall I do? All these years, and I never knew!"

Where the money came from to pay for her handsome clothes wracked her as poignantly as would a great physical pain. Her thoughts were incoherent, skipping from one horrible phase of the situation to another. Though they were disconnected, they were not vague. Each was a ruthless view of her deplorable position.

"Why did he let me come home? How can I bear to have anyone look at me on the street? I can hear them now, saying, 'That's she, the boss's daughter. See her fine clothes. We know where the money came from to buy them.' And I, like a leper, must ever cry, 'Unclean, unclean,' and see those whom I would love flee ever on before me."

This made her think again of Joe Wright. Surely he had loved her beyond all reason to have wished to marry her, the daughter of such a man.

"Joe, poor old Joe, how he has suffered because of me." She had chosen in her blindness not to listen to him and now he was gone forever. She had obeyed the dictation of pride and stifled the prompting of love, and now her punishment seemed greater than she could bear. "He did love me. He knew, and still loved me. And I drove him away. Well, it was better so; but he did not love me—once. It's better so—for him."

It was now a far more grievous prospect than that of the long years which had confronted her when she had realized the previous day how solitary was to be her way. Then she had had position, power, and pride; now these had been stripped from her, and nothing had been given her in their stead. In a passionate flood of tears she sank to the floor and cried as if her heart would break.

Through it all Little Ella slept, not knowing that in her room was being enacted a tragedy of the heart more profound than any she with all her shallowness could live in a century of heartaches.

CHAPTER XIX.

Grief made Gloria insensible to the flight of time, and how long she had been prostrate on the floor before sounds on the stairs aroused her she did not know. Thinking that it must be Mrs. Hayes returning with a physician, she rose hastily and tried to remove all traces of her tears. She wished above all to avoid explanations, and if none was asked she did not wish to have her grief misconstrued. But it was not Mrs. Hayes, for Gloria could hear the heavy tread ascending to the floor above.

Little Ella was restless and rolled and tossed in her sleep. The daughter of David Kerr looked with pity upon her. Her discipline was too new, her spirit was still too untamed for her to understand fully the kinship of the human race. Although she recognized that she was herself without the caste she thought was hers, she had not come to know that on the last great day there would be only the judgment of the just and the unjust, not of the high and the low, of the rich and the poor, of the wise and the ignorant, of the master and the servant.

"Poor girl," murmured Gloria, "you shall see that I do understand."

There was also much which she could learn from this bit of float cast up by an unkind sea upon a cheerless shore. Seeing that Little Ella was not sleeping soundly, her desire to know more got the better of her duty as a nurse. She shook her gently, and soon was rewarded by seeing her eyes open.

"What do you want?" asked the patient.

"Time to take your medicine. This was only a subterfuge, and it hurt her to receive the profuse thanks which it evoked.

"How are we going to begin to make things right down here?" Gloria asked when Little Ella had sunk back upon her pillow.

"Begin?" The girl did not understand.

"Yes, you and I. Things can't go on as they are."

"Why, begin with the boss, of course."

OLIVE Tablets OIL the Bowels

Physician's Substitute for Dangerous Calomel.

When you feel that your liver and bowels need help take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Substitute for Calomel. Calomel is effective, but dangerous—causing bad after-effects.

Olive Tablets are especially made to take the place of Calomel. Dr. Edwards for years has been Calomel's foe. He saw its dangers and its disadvantages in 17 years' practice, treating patients for all kinds of liver and bowel complaints. In his efforts to do without Calomel he developed his now famous little olive-oil-colored tablets. Olive Tablets are mild but effective. Safe and sure. Pleasant to take, but unfailing in results.

Olive Tablets oil the bowels just enough to start Nature's own action, and they tone up the liver at the same time. They are made from a rare combination of vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

If you want to regain that feeling of joyous buoyancy and clear thought take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They work like a vacation. 10 and 25 cents per box.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own."

DINNER STORIES

A man who had been ailing for some time visited a new doctor. After examining him and listening to an account of his symptoms, the doctor said:

"If you follow these rules I've written down, you'll soon get well."

"But I've been following them for a year," replied the man, after he had read them. "They're the same my old doctor recommended."

"Hand them over and I'll give you some others."

During a winter visit to Florida, Andrew Carnegie attended a service in a little negro church. When the contribution plate came around, Mr. Carnegie dropped a $5 bill upon it. After the contents of the plate had been counted, the clergyman arose and announced:

"Brethren and sisters, the collection this evening seems to figure up $6.44; and if the $5 bill contributed by the gentleman from the north is genuine, the repairs on the sanctuary will begin immediately."

The story is told of a college professor who was noted for his concentration of mind. The professor was returning home one night from a scientific meeting still pondering over the subject. He had reached his room in safety when he heard a noise which seemed to come from under the bed.

"Is someone there?" he asked.

"No, professor," answered the intruder, who knew of the professor's peculiarities.

"That's strange. I was positive someone was under my bed," commented the learned man.

Climate Failed; Medicine Effective

It has been absolutely shown that rest, fresh air and good food do help many persons suffering from Tuberculosis. But it must be admitted that the cure is seldom more than "arrested." Something more is needed.

Eckman's Alternative is a medicine made for the treatment of Tuberculosis. It has conquered this disease again and again. Often the best results have been effected where the surroundings were not ideal—yet recoveries resulted. Now we argue that Eckman's Alternative should be used in every case of Tuberculosis in addition to good, nourishing food and fresh air, which we all need. A remarkable case follows:

"Gentlemen: Through Eckman's Alternative I have been saved from a premature grave. On December 14, 1904, I was taken in early case of Tuberculosis. My lungs became very much affected. My sputum was examined and Tuberculosis Bacilli were found. On February 21, 1905, I was advised to go to Fort Worth, Texas. While there an abscess in my right lung broke and discharged. I grew worse and became very much emaciated. My physician informed me that I must go to Colorado as quickly as possible. I left Texas, June 21 and arrived in Canon City, June 3 very feeble. After being there two weeks, my physician informed me that my case was hopeless. Three weeks later I returned home, weighing 105 pounds, the doctor having given me an assurance of reaching there alive."

"On July 14, 1905, I began taking Eckman's wonderful remedy for Consumption. Today I weigh 135 pounds. I am stout and well and can do any kind of work about my grain elevator. I have not an ache nor pain in my lungs, eat well, sleep well, and never feel better."

(sworn affidavit) ARTHUR WEBB. Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. Delay Has Been Dangerous in Janesville.

Do the right thing at the right time.

Act quickly in time of danger. In time of kidney danger Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Plenty of evidence of their worth.

Mrs. R. W. Phillips, Church St., Clinton, Wis., says:

"I suffered for years from pains in the small of my back and limbs and often my body bloated. My feet and ankles were swollen and I had puffy spots beneath my eyes. Someone told me that the failure of my kidneys to remove the uric poison from my system caused my suffering. I tried various kidney medicines but was not helped until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. Since using them I have enjoyed much better health. I trust that other kidney sufferers will follow my example and try Doan's Kidney Pills. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally when in need of a kidney medicine and I am always benefited. You may continue the publication of my former testimonial."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Don't Let Real Money Rot Away in the Attic.

How many dollars are piled away in the shape of used and discarded furniture in attics of this city and county? Suffice to say that it would run into many, many thousands of dollars. Years ago perhaps there was a reason for this. Opportunities for selling this kind of goods were few and buyers hard to find. About the only people who could be reached were the immediate neighbors. Not so today. A Classified Advertisement in tonight's Gazette would be in over 6000 homes. Just a few lines telling what you have, and the price, would reach practically every home in the county. Every prospective buyer for your goods in a radius of twenty-five miles would know of your offer within a single day. DON'T CARRY THIS KIND OF DOLLARS TO THE ATTIC. IT HAS A MARKET VALUE AND QUICK SALE.
